CARE HOME OWNER'S CRUEL SCHEME TO FLEECE PENSIONERS

Report by Kenny Parker

Fraudster who used residents' money to buy multiple properties and fleet of luxury cars jailed for 21 years

A COURT has heard how the boss of a luxury care home poisoned the mind of a wealthy West Lancs pensioner against her own family in order to steal her fortune.

David Barton, owner of the Barton Park Nursing Home in Southport, has been jailed for 21 years for stealing from and defrauding more than £4 million in total from six residents over 17 years.

The 64-year-old used the money to buy multiple properties in the resort, along with a fleet of luxury cars, including four Ferraris and three Rolls Royces!

Among his victims were Gordon and Katie Willey from Briars Lane, Lathom.

Gordon had Alzheimer's when he entered the home and Barton succeeded in driving a wedge between Katie and her loving family.

When he appeared for sentencing at Liverpool Crown Court prosecutor Benjamin Myers said Barton's offences came to light when he attempted to sue Mrs Willey's estate, following her death in 2013, initially for £10 million, including VAT; and then for a revised amount of £6.4m.

Barton claimed that he had finalised a 'life agreement' deal with Mrs Willey worth at least £5.5m in return for a lifetime of care and accommodation.

However, the claim was fraudulent.

Katie and Gordon Willey in happier times.

Among other outrageous claims made to the civil court was the "alternative assertion" that the Willeys had agreed to pay £25,000 per day to take Gordon Willey for drives in luxury cars as a means of managing his dementia. In total Barton said the drives Mr Willey had enjoyed amounted to £7.2m (including VAT).

Eventually Barton agreed to settle that case for £640,000 but he was made to pay £440,000 for the defendants' legal costs. The solicitor representing the family, Amanda Noyce, also handed details to police.

The crown court heard that the Willeys had moved into Barton Park in 2011 when Gordon was 80 and Katie, who was 75, had developed a serious heart complaint and was on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

"They were multi-millionaires and it was obvious that they were extremely wealthy" said Mr Myers, adding that although childless, the couple had a large and loving family and circle of friends.

Over a period of two years though, Barton would alienate Mrs Willey from her loved ones by a devastating combination of menacing solicitors' letters to family members, blocked telephone and personal contact, and a campaign of poisoning her mind towards them. He even employed a self-styled intuitive counsellor and psychic consultant to cast spells on the family to banish them.

The nursing home owner did this with the "vigorous support" of 69-year-old general manager Rosemary Booth, of Hesketh Drive, Southport, who became a surrogate friend to Katie Willey. She was jailed for six years.

In total, Barton stole £900K in excess fees from the Willeys.

Church set for £500k makeover

PARISHIONERS at an Ormskirk church are looking forward to a brighter future after raising nearly £500k for a major refurbishment.

Thanks to a combination of grants and years of planning and fundraising, work will begin soon at Emmanuel United Reformed Church, Derby Street on a new entrance foyer and glass doors, along with new carpets, flooring and decor for the whole worship area.

The church will also have better disabled access and new toilets, kitchen, heating system and sound and vision equipment.

To mark the transformation the church will host a summer fair on Saturday (July 21) from 10. 30am to 4pm, featuring activities including floristry, quilting, and calligraphy. There will also be stalls and refreshments and admission is £2.

Then on Saturday evening there will be a Choral & Musical Concert, by Rev Sue's Good News Choir and guests. Tickets, priced £5, including tea and coffee, are available on the door or by contacting Lillian Graham on 01695 423119.

And on Sunday (July 22)there will be a Service of Celebration at 10.30am before services are moved into the hall for the refurbishment.

Union suspends latest planned strike action on Northern Rail

Report by Henry James

Respite for passengers and hopes of an end to long-running dispute over role of guards as sides set to hold talks

A PLANNED strike by Northern Rail staff on Saturday (July 21) has been suspended to allow for talks.

The ongoing dispute, which has dragged on for more than 12 months, is over the role of guards on trains. But there will be some respite for fed-up passengers after the general secretary of the Rail, Maritime and Transport Workers union, Mick Cash called off the latest planned action.

He said: "RMT's negotiating team has been in talks with Northern over the past week in an attempt to seek a resolution to the long-running dispute. Reports from RMT representatives and correspondence from the company have set out a process for reconvening talks around proposals to set up a joint working party to consider a range of options on the deployment of on-board staff, including retaining a second safety critical person on board all Arriva Rail North trains.

"RMT's National Executive Committee has noted this situation and has stated that these talks must commence this week. Also, the union's NEC has instructed our team to negotiate around the guarantee of a second person on every train and their safety critical responsibilities in the first instance.

"As a result of this situation, the NEC has suspended the industrial action which was scheduled to take place on Saturday, July 21 and our members are instructed to work as normal on that date."

Richard Allan, deputy managing director for Northern, responded: "We are pleased the RMT has agreed to hold talks in a bid to resolve their ongoing dispute and has called off its strike action that was planned for Saturday, July 21.

"Northern is modernising local rail for customers, with £500m of new trains under construction, better stations and more services by 2020. We want to work with RMT to shape the future on-board role for colleagues to deliver better customer service."

Meanwhile there is hope that the driver-only dispute on Merseyrail can be resolved. At the recent meeting organised by The Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS) both the RMT and Merseyrail discussed in detail the outcome of their recent joint workshops, which explored the RMT's hope of having a second safety critical member of staff on the new fleet of trains.

An ACAS joint statement said: "The outcome of the talks will remain confidential until such time that Merseytravel have had time to give these their due consideration. Following this, it is anticipated that both the RMT and Merseyrail will meet for at least one further meeting with ACAS to discuss the considerations from Merseytravel."

Passengers on Northern Rail services will be spared more disruption after the RMT union called off its planned strike on Saturday.

Local Poundworld stores escape the axe - for now

WEST Lancashire's Poundworld stores are not on the latest list of sites set to close this weekend - but their future remains uncertain.

The struggling discount retailer, which has stores at the Concourse in Skelmersdale and at The Hattersley Centre in Ormskirk, announced the closure of 105 stores last week.

The number of Poundworld stores, which will continue to trade is 230. A total of another 80 stores are to close with the loss of more than 1,000 jobs.

This follows the closure of 25 stores, announced on July 10, resulting in more than 240 employees being made redundant.

The administrators of Poundworld, Deloitte, said the closures will not have an impact on the selling of the business with discussions continuing with interested parties.

In June the discount chain failed to find a buyer and went into administration.

Clare Boardman, joint administrator, commented: "Whilst we remain hopeful that a sale for part, or parts, of the business can still happen, it has not been possible to sell the business as a whole.

"We would like to thank all the employees for their continued support and commitment during this difficult time. We are keeping staff appraised of developments as they happen."

Call to scrap controversial £25 wheelie bin charge

Report by Henry James

AN extraordinary meeting of West Lancs Council's cabinet tonight (Wednesday) will discuss proposals to scrap the controversial £25 charge for residents who want a blue wheelie bin to collect glass, cans and plastic bottles.

The council is no longer collecting the majority of residents' blue boxes and is asking them instead to use blue wheelie bins, which come at a cost of £25.

The cabinet is also set to consider proposals to extend the July 16 deadline to October 31 for those residents who use blue boxes (or other containers) for paper and cardboard to order a green bin, free of charge.

The council says funding of £200,000 will be needed to fund blue and green wheelie bins to those properties that are using boxes or other containers or previously had a box until October 31.

If the proposals are approved residents who have purchased a blue wheelie bin since March 12 to replace a blue box or other containers, could be refunded.

Since March 12, when the service change was introduced, a total of 401 blue wheelie bins have been purchased by residents at a cost of £25, generating income of £10,025.

Councillor David Westley

Meanwhile the Conservative group at West Lancashire Borough Council has introduced a motion on the agenda for today's full council meeting opposing the council's decision to stop the collection of recyclables from blue boxes.

They are also against the introduction of a £25 charge for blue wheelie bins.

They want to see the continuation of collections from blue boxes and bags until the end of October 2018; residents to be able to have a blue wheelie bin free of charge; and a refund to all residents who have recently purchased a blue bin with the cost to be met from council reserves.

The motion has been included on the agenda by Conservative group leader, Councillor David Westley.

It reads: "When the Conservatives introduced the blue wheelie bin in 2013, it was offered free of charge to every property in the borough, although residents were also given the option of continuing to use their blue box and bag.

"The Conservatives have always seen refuse and recycling collections as essential frontline services, ones that should be funded from council tax and not by the imposition of additional charges.

"Earlier this year the Conservative Group welcomed the introduction of the brown wheelie bin for garden waste and the use of the green wheelie bin for paper and cardboard collections. In line with Conservative policy, the brown wheelie bin and green wheelie bins, for properties without one, were both provided free of charge.

"The recent decision to stop the collection of recyclables from blue boxes and blue bins together with the imposition of a £25 charge for a blue wheelie bins is contrary to the council's previous policy and unfair. Labour have allowed the recent changes to be slipped in under delegated authority without any democratic debate on what was a clear change in policy."

Green Fayre returns at weekend

WEST Lancashire's Green Fayre, which celebrates the countryside and countryside living and attracts thousands of visitors each year, returns this weekend.

It will be held on Saturday and Sunday, July 21 and 22 at Beacon Country Park in Up Holland.

At the heart of the fayre are the craft and working woodlands displays with a variety of different exhibitors and traders showcasing a wide range of traditional crafts and techniques, working natural materials into products and goods that people use in day-to-day life.

There are also a wide range of animal displays at the show - falconry, horse and dog shows in the arena, static owl and birds of prey displays, and even a petting farm allowing people close-up experiences of a range of animals.

The show is also attended by a range of wildlife and animal welfare charities and organisations providing residents with more information on how they can help look after animals both at home and in the wild.

Another big part of the show is the Viking encampment that overlooks Skelmersdale. Those who attend can visit their tented village and find out more about day-to-day Viking life.

Activities

A spokesman for West Lancs Council said: "There is loads for families to do at the show. As well as all the crafts and exhibits, there are a full range of adventurous activities for you to try your hand at including climbing, abseiling, caving, shooting, archery and bushcrafts!

"And if that isn't your cup of tea, there are also bouncy castles, trampolines, donkey rides and traditional funfair rides to enjoy."

Care home owner who used residents' money to fund luxury lifestyle jailed for 21 years

However, the prosecutor said that ultimately, Barton pursued a "concerted, protracted and fraudulent scheme" designed to take the entirety of the Willeys' wealth from them by means of an extortionate agreement for care for the remainder of their lives.

He had demanded at least £5.5m and just days before she died, Mrs Willey received a final demand from Barton's solicitor that she pay him all the money she possessed.

As she lay dying, following a cardiac arrest, a witness heard Barton saying: "I can't believe that she's done this to me." He was also said to have tried to revive her by flicking water on her.

It was just one day after her death that Barton instigated civil proceedings against her family.

A statement released through Amanda Noyce, said: "This has been a very painful number of years for the family. Sadly, Mr and Mrs Willey are no longer here, but their family is pleased that justice has at last been done.

"It is deeply upsetting to the family that, having enjoyed a lifetime of happy times and close relationships with Mr and Mrs Willey, the defendants deliberately isolated them at the very time when they were most vulnerable.

"In a sense, thankfully Mr Willey had lost mental capacity by this time and so was unaware of his situation, but that was not true of his wife.

"The manipulation of Mrs Willey's relationship with the family at the end of her life, so that she died, isolated and alone, despite all the efforts made by the family to re-engage with her, was a deep cruelty and meant that she died without a true knowledge of her family's love for her.

"The family is grateful that Mr Willey was removed from Barton Park, after a court battle, and he died after a couple of comfortable years at the Letcombe Regis nursing home in Oxfordshire."

Campaigners call for halt to fracking until new research report is complete

Report by Kenny Parker

CAMPAIGN group Moss Alliance has called for all fracking in the county to be put on hold until newly-commissioned research is completed.

Energy company Cuadrilla says it expects to begin extraction of shale gas by fracking at Little Plumpton in Fylde later this year, and a planning application is soon to be submitted by Aurora Energy Resources to do the same at Altcar Moss in West Lancs.

But the Government-financed Natural Environment Research Council and the Economic & Social Research Council have announced £7.6m funding for programmes to provide "an independent scientific evidence base to understand potential environmental and socio-economic impacts of unconventional hydrocarbon extraction."

And the Royal Society and Royal Academy of Engineering also recently announced that they are to review their 2012 report on shale gas which is said to have been relied on by the Government in their support for the fossil fuel extraction industry.

Moss Alliance, a collective of groups opposed to fracking in Altcar Moss, says that the latter review will not be published until later this year when fracking may already have commenced at Preston New Road and is calling for an immediate moratorium.

Moss Alliance's 'Auntie Fracking' scarecrow featured at the Halsall Scarecrow Festival to raise awareness of the campaign.

The campaign group also highlight a recent report by Professor Peter Styles, a former Government adviser, which shows that fracking within coal mining areas could be disastrous and the historical data relating to them has been "overlooked" by the industry.

A spokesperson for the Moss Alliance said: "Fracking has been banned or moratoriums are in place in the rest of the UK. If the Scottish Government can impose a moratorium while they investigate fracking for themselves why do we in England find ourselves under imposition of fracking when this long-overdue review of this outdated report is only now about to commence?"

A spokesperson for the Department for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy said: "Cuadrilla have submitted an application for Hydraulic Fracturing Consent at their Preston New Road site, Lancashire.

" This is being considered and all relevant matters will be taken into account as part of the decision-making process. It would be inappropriate to comment further at this time."

Villagers raise safety concerns over HGVs on narrow roads

Report by Henry James

ANGRY residents in a West Lancs village and neighbouring hamlet claim speeding, overweight heavy goods vehicles are putting pedestrians and other road users at risk.

Neighbours in Bickerstaffe and Barrow Nook have taken to the streets to take photographs of the HGVs which they believe are over the 7.5 tonne weight restriction.

They also claim that many of the vehicles are exceeding the speed limit and either mounting the pavements as they negotiate the narrow country roads or forcing other vehicles to do so - particularly along Barrow Nook Lane, Moss Lane and Coach Road.

One of the residents, who did not want to be named, told the Champion: "The problems with HGV vehicles are seven days a week and on a 24-hour basis And it seems to have got worse recently.

"We believe some of these vehicles are above the permitted 7.5 tonne weight and are also exceeding the speed limit."

The resident said the volume of HGV traffic in the village had increased massively with some believed to be going to and from local topsoil suppliers, Draper R Ltd. in Bickerstaffe.

"When two of these vehicles try to pass each other, it's like a scene from the 1950s film Hell Drivers. It's not safe for residents to walk along the pavements. Recently someone died after going under an HGV vehicle just down the road in Rainford.

Moss Lane in Barrow Nook - one of the roads residents claim is being used by HGVs exceeding weight limit and speed restrictions and putting lives at risk.

"The drivers seemingly have no regard to any damage they cause to the landscape either. Many of the wagons are uncovered and lose their aggregate as they drive by. "

The residents have been monitoring the situation and plan to send their photos to the highways authority, Lancashire County Council.

A county council spokesman said that enforcement of speed and weight limits is the responsibility of the police.

However, he added: "We're aware of concerns about speeding in this area and are due to discuss in the next of our regular meetings with the police our approach to issues with excessive speed on the 40mph section of Sineacre Lane.

"There is a 7.5 tonne environmental weight limit on the roads surrounding Barrow Nook, and while this does not apply to vehicles above this weight which need to access this area for pick-ups and deliveries, we are monitoring the situation as we are aware of concerns about other vehicles using these roads as a through-route.

"If people have concerns about speeding in a particular area, or information about vehicles ignoring weight limits, we would ask them to contact us."

Draper R Ltd. has been contacted for comment.

Lathom High pupils help to judge Lancashire Book of the Year award

PUPILS from Lathom High School joined fellow judges from schools throughout the county at a presentation ceremony for this year's winner of the Lancashire Book of the Year Award.

The award, organised by Lancashire County Council and sponsored for the last 17 years by the University of Central Lancashire (UCLan), remains one of the few where young people themselves are totally responsible for drawing up the shortlist and choosing the overall winner.

This year's winner was Sue Wallman with her title, See How They Lie. After the presentation at UCLan, she said: " It is an honour to be recognised and what makes the award so special is that it's been decided by students.

Parish council under fire over masterplan

Report by Kenny Parker

'We're working in the better interests of the village' claim members accused of siding with landowner

TARLETON Parish Council has been forced to defend itself against accusations that members have sided with a major landowner over the drawing up of a masterplan for the village.

Residents have expressed outrage that the council 'collaborated' with The Lilford Estate in creating the plans without consulting them first.

The masterplan, drawn up to assist West Lancs council in the development of its next Local Plan, sets out a vision for housing and employment in the village for the next 30 years. It includes the building of nearly 1,500 homes, an agricultural hub and a new business park.

Surveyors Acland Bracewell said that funding generated by the developments could be invested in infrastructure, such as a sustainable drainage system and a Green Lane link, diverting traffic away from Tarleton village.

Borough Councillor Gail Hodson, who lives in Tarleton, said: "I have been inundated with residents contacting me with their concerns and outrage about Tarleton Parish Council's announcement that they are collectively working together to prepare a masterplan, with The Lilford Estate, to establish their vision of housing and employment needs for our village.

"Representatives of The Lilford Estate are well within their rights to submit their proposals into the review of the West Lancashire Local Plan, as is any other landowner or developer, but what is most concerning the residents that I have spoken to, is that the parish council have announced their collaboration with one specific set of proposals without any consultation with the wider community who will bear the consequences should such a scheme be approved in the future."

One resident wrote to Cllr Hodson: "Our elected representatives on the parish councils are supposed to represent us, the residents. The Tory-controlled parish councils of Tarleton and Hesketh Bank appear more closely aligned with the aspirations of the major land owners than of local residents."

And the resident claimed: "Tarleton Parish Council has admitted working together with a major land owner on a masterplan that local residents believe would be a massive over-development for Tarleton."

Another wrote: "The parish council met in private sessions earlier this year with representatives from The Lilford Estate, on several occasions, after which they announced their support for their particular scheme. These plans are huge and will have a devastating effect on our community. "

However, a spokesman for the parish council said it had been working with The Lilford Estate 'in the better interests of the village.'

Chairman Councillor Jim Kay said the parish council had been frustrated after their objections to previous planning applications for housing in the village were ignored, such as the Alty development off Hesketh Lane and the Barratt development at Plox Brow. Those developments were excluded from the need to provide affordable housing or specialist housing (e.g. for the elderly) and did not bring any improvements to local infrastructure, he said.

"Planning law now is such that it is likely that significant development will happen in the village in the next 30 years. The parish council agreed that it would be much better to try and influence crucial decisions from the start rather than remain on the outside objecting in vain to every new proposal.

"The council is open to listen to the community views and that is underway. Please have your say and we hope you now better understand the position and frustrations that this council has with the current planning process."

The parish council has said it will not presently hold any more meetings about the masterplan as there is a consultation underway where people can express their views.

Residents can view the masterlan and comment at www.consult-tarleton-materplan@absurveyors.co.uk.

Borough councillor Gail Hodson (3rd left) says village residents have expressed their concern and outrage at the parish council's 'collaboration' on the Tarleton Masterplan.

Summer holiday travel tips for people with diabetes

HEALTH professionals in Lancashire are encouraging people with diabetes to make sure they travel safely this summer by managing their medication carefully.

The Diabetes Team at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust is encouraging members of the public living with Type 1 and Type 2 diabetes who are planning a trip to ensure they have researched the area they are visiting and can plan accordingly for their medication needs.

Pam Tetlow from the trust's Diabetes Service, said: "At this time of year, it's so important to make sure members of the public with diabetes know the effects that weather and travelling can have on their condition.

"Many people will be familiar with these precautions, but it's still critical to communicate the message about travelling safely and getting to know your body, so you stay healthy and fit.

"If you need advice about any of the above or to talk to someone, contact the local team responsible for your care."

Top tips to remember when travelling:

- Insulin freezes, so if you are flying, you need to carry your insulin in your hand luggage along with a note from your GP or your local diabetes service for security purposes
- Heat increases the rate insulin is absorbed by your body
- Different time zones will affect your normal meal times
- Always check your insurance will fully cover any issues you may have relating to diabetes whilst abroad
- Look after your feet on holiday. Don't walk barefoot on the sand and always use sun cream on your feet to avoid sun burn.

Councillor claims trust's new hospital proposal is a smoke screen for more cuts

Report by Henry James

THE possibility of building a new hospital somewhere between Southport and Ormskirk floated by local NHS trust chiefs has been described as a "smoke screen for further cuts" by a West Lancs county councillor.

Councillor John Fillis, deputy leader of the Labour group on Lancashire County Council, who represents the Skelmersdale East ward, believes the issue will see local communities in conflict once again while the trust goes ahead with its closure plans of vital services.

Cllr. Fillis, said: "The rhetoric is positive but the reality is a failing trust that has closed cancer services, has people lying on trolleys in A&E and has seen services being lost to private contractors.

"We have also had a series of management scandals destroying confidence in their ability to deliver. This is just a smoke screen for further cuts to our National Health Service.

"The split site services review that established the current service provision (April 1, 1999) was wrong then and the report by the Northern England Clinical Senate, confirms that it is wrong now.

County Councillor John Fillis

"The whole process was gerrymandered when they introduced 'visitors' to Southport as an excuse to establish the A&E there.

Promised

"The trust is now using the elderly to push through further closures at the Ormskirk Hospital under the discredited 'hot and cold site' scenario.

"At the time of the last review local people were promised improvement in public transport and highways and the facts is that things have got worse."

Cllr. Fillis, added: "What we need is a new super hospital built in Skelmersdale, which already has excellent highway links to Ormskirk and Southport via the new A5758.

"The M58 motorway link would also enable fast links to regional services in Merseyside, Greater Manchester and Lancashire, while Southport Hospital could become a rehabilitation and hospital for the elderly."

"The Conservative Government is underfunding our health services by £34m according to the Acute Sustainability Progress Report, 2017/18.

"Despite constant promises it is clear that this Government is preparing its trusts to cut local services once again, by misleading local people.

"Our National Health Service is one of the most cost-effective in the world, saving not only lives but billions of pounds in comparison to the private sector. The Acute Sustainability Progress Report fails to take this into account."

Pupils' community work earns Rotary Club award

PUPILS from seven local primary schools were presented with certificates and badges at Ormskirk Civic Hall for their successful completion of the Rotary Junior Community Award, organised by the Rotary Club of Ormskirk.

The 60 Year 6 children had each successfully carried out and completed activities and projects involving community service, physical recreation, social experiences and the development of personal skills.

Displays of their work were on display at the presentation.

The Rotary Junior Community Award was started in Australia and was introduced to the UK by John Hayes, who was at the presentation.

Although widely adopted by Rotary clubs in Australia, the Rotary Club of Ormskirk is one of only a few clubs in the UK who run the award.

The presentation event was attended by the Mayor and Mayoress of West Lancashire, Councillor Noel Delaney and Mrs Ann Stubbert, along with former Rotary District Governor, Beryl Cotton and was the first official engagement for the newly-appointed President of the Rotary Club of Ormskirk, John McCormick.

This was the 12th year that the award has been run in Ormskirk and John McCormick said that in order for it to continue new members are needed.

He described Rotary as the best social club in the world that also puts a "massive amount" back into the community.

College celebrates opening of new £2m 'centre of excellence'

Report by Henry James

OFFICIALS of West Lancashire College were joined by key partners to celebrate the official opening of the college's state-of-the art £2m Construction, Engineering and Logistics Centre in Skelmersdale.

Members of the college management team were joined by governors, local employers, stakeholders and colleagues, who have supported the development of the new centre.

Mark Whitworth, chief executive officer of Peel Ports Group and chair of the College Board, officially opened the centre, and visitors were given a tour of the new facility.

Mark Whitworth unveils the plaque to officially open the new Construction, Engineering and Logistics facility.

Vision

The new centre provides facilities in which carpenters, bricklayers, electricians, engineers, motor mechanics, logistics operatives, plasterers and plumbers of the future can learn their skills in realistic working environments.

The college has said it's "crucial" that they cater for the needs of the young people and adults of the region, enabling them to gain the vocational skills that employers expect.

Principal, Denise Williamson, said: "Our vision is to create a centre of excellence in construction, engineering and logistics.

"We offer an extensive range of new training programmes that meet the needs of the area and enhance our current offer, including new provision in warehousing, business logistics, driving goods vehicles and clean engineering.

"We have some world-class manufacturing, logistics and engineering companies in the area and our new innovative centre will specialise in courses to meet industry needs and ensure that students develop the confidence and skills to walk straight into a career.

"I am delighted that our new centre is now officially open and would like to thank Mark Whitworth, chair of the College Board and CEO of Peel Ports Group who performed the official opening, as well as the College Board members and NCG who have supported us in this exciting development."

Mark Whitworth, added: "I was very pleased to officially open the Construction, Engineering & Logistics Centre at West Lancashire College. The college is committed to becoming a centre of excellence for logistics and the new facilities are central to the delivery of this objective."

Health commissioning group earns annual assessment 'good' rating

Report by Henry James

THE NHS WEST Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group has been rated as 'good' following an annual assessment by NHS England.

Assessments for 2017/18 by NHS England provide each clinical commissioning group in the country with an evaluation of their performances based against indicators in the CCG Improvement and Assessment Framework (CCG IAF).

This framework aligns key objectives and priorities as part of their aim to deliver their Five Year Forward View.

On this basis, the assessors have rated NHS West Lancashire as 'good' - the second highest rating available.

The rating, made this week, praised the progress that the West Lancs group has made in the following areas:

- Its "excellent" work around cancer, dementia, diabetes and mental health.
- The continued excellent relationship with Southport and Formby CCG and strong working relationships with Southport and Ormskirk NHS Hospital Trust and Lancashire Care Foundation Trust.
- Delivering their financial plan for 2017/18 despite some unexpected pressures in the year.

NHS WEST Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group chief officer, Mike Maguire

It also acknowledged the challenges faced by the CCG in the year ahead including:

- To further develop the work on cancer screening and 62-day diagnosis, mental health work specifically around children and young people and preparedness for next winter.
- Progress work to improve the uptake on personal health budgets.

'Dedication'

Mike Maguire, chief officer at NHS West Lancashire CCG, said: "I am very proud of the team here for their hard work and dedication in ensuring that we achieved our 'good' rating, which is an improvement over the previous 12-months rating.

"I am well aware that as a CCG we face a number of challenges in the year ahead to ensure that we provide the best health and social care for the people of West Lancashire, but as an organisation we are prepared for this challenge."

The NHS England annual assessment information is available on their website at https://www.england.nhs.uk/commissioning/regulation/ccg-assess/iaf/.

Summer break for computer drop-in sessions

The weekly drop-in sessions, held on Wednedays between 10am and noon at the Methodist Church in Orrell Lane, Burscough, are designed to help technology 'novices' learn computer skills.

After today's session (July 18) there will be no further classes until Wednesday, September 5 after which it is planned to continue to hold them until mid-December.

The organisers are also planning a programme of sessions on particular topics as requested by their users so by going along in September you can help to shape the courses on offer.

For more information contact Cynthia on 01704 895247.

Public invited to charity's 10th birthday party

WEST Lancs-based charity, Sporting Challenge, is inviting members of the public to help celebrate its 10th anniversary party on Saturday, July 21.

The event, starting at 7.30pm at the Royal British Legion in Lord Street, Burscough, will include a disco, buffet and raffle.

Tickets, priced £5, are available from the charity's activities organiser, Edward McCarthy on 07971 299606 or by email at edwardatemss@gmail.com.

Meanwhile, the charity has recently been awarded £1,600 from Yorkshire Building Society's Charitable Foundation.

The money will be used for session booking costs, coach hire for a short break in the Lake District and also games for Nintendo Switch.

Ormskirk scientist in running for charity's 'Rising Star' accolade

Work on developing new drug to combat macular disease earns Simon second successive nomination for national award

A SCIENTIST from Ormskirk has been shortlisted for a national award for the second consecutive year.

Dr Simon Clark, is one of the nominees for this year's Macular Society Awards for Excellence.

The 38-year-old has been shortlisted in the Rising Star of the Year category of the leading sight loss charity's top awards for his pioneering research into macular disease.

Dr Clark, who is based at the University of Manchester's Faculty of Biology, Medicine and Health, also made the shortlist in 2017.

His work has focused on the links between a person's complement system, part of the immune system, and macular disease. Extensive laboratory work has helped Dr Clark and his team gain a much greater understanding of macular disease and they have developed a new drug for the condition called Coalexin which is set to begin clinical trials in the next two years.

Dr Clark has also been praised for his editorial and scientific contributions to a number of respected scientific journals, as well as his close collaboration with other universities throughout the world, including in Denmark, the Netherlands and the USA.

Dr Simon Clark

And he has been helping to inspire budding scientists by regularly hosting students at his laboratory, enabling them to learn more about macular disease.

Dr Clark said: "It's really humbling to have been shortlisted again. The thought that the work I'm doing could lead to a major breakthrough in the treatment of macular disease is what gets me out of bed in the morning - it's a real honour to be doing this.

"By 2020 we'll hopefully be in a position to start the first phase of clinical trials of the new treatments we've been working on. The trial could last for a number of years, and of course there are no guarantees and we have to be cautious, but if it's successful, it could be a major step forward."

If he is chosen as one of the winners Dr Clark will receive his award at the Macular Society's national annual conference in London in September.

Now in its 10th year, the Macular Society Awards for Excellence celebrates inspirational work done to provide services and care for people with macular disease all over the UK.

Rising Star of the Year is one of five honours handed out by the charity. There are also prizes for Clinical Service of the Year; Optician/Optometrist of the Year; a Chairman's Award for Volunteering, and Chairman's Award for Fundraising.

The Macular Society is the national charity for anyone affected by central vision loss. Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) is the most common cause of sight loss in the UK, affecting more than 600,000 people. It is estimated that by 2050, around 1.3 million people will have AMD.

The Mayor with organisers and acts who took part in the Burscough's Got Talent event to raise awareness of mental health issues

Talent show gets people talking about mental health - and raises £2,500!

A TALENT contest which aimed to break down barriers and allow people to talk about their own mental health issues raised more than £2,500 for mental health charity Mind.

Burscough's Got Talent was organised by local resident, Stephen Cliff, who was moved by the suicides of three young people in the area, including his friend Joe Whittle from Ormskirk who sadly took his own life in January.

The event was opened by Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Noel Delaney and 12 local acts then took to the stage to showcase their talent - including singers, an illusionist and some 'cheeky' balloon dancers.

Eventual winner was singer/guitatrist, Sam Simpson from Ormskirk.

Stephen Cliff said he was "really touched" by how many people from the community - including the performers - came together with their own stories and experiences of mental health.

He said: "The event was a great success not just in terms of fundraising but also in spreading the message that 'It's OK not to be OK' and encouraging others to seek help in their hour of need.

"I went on stage myself - even though it was difficult - and spoke about my own battles with depression, anxiety and bulimia. I hoped this would encourage others to talk and not feel ashamed.

The 36-year-old, who also founded social media page, The Real Burscough Community Forum, added: "The most beautiful thing was how barriers that exist in society about mental health were broken down for the evening. Every performer had a story to tell and this allowed others to feel comfortable in expressing how they feel."

Stephen was helped to organise the event by Rachel Fishlock from Scarisbrick and say they now hope to set up two events each year to continually support those who are finding it hard to cope

Their next planned event is a comedy 'Stars in their Eyes' Christmas special.

Champion LETTERS to the Editor

Why are local petrol prices among the highest in country?

I WOULD like to query why Ormskirk petrol and diesel prices are consistently amongst the highest in the country, currently rivalling the centre of London.

My job involves a lot of travelling and I require to fuel up all around the UK yet would make a special effort to avoid filling up at any petrol station within or adjacent to Ormskirk.

As a case in point, recent diesel prices in the four filling stations in or near Ormskirk (County Road, M58 roundabout and two in Burscough) were all selling at 134.9 or higher.

Asda in Aintree were at 126.9 and the two A580 stations were at 127.9.

Given an average car holding 40 litres that means that drivers filling up in Ormskirk are paying more to the tune of £150 a year than those in surrounding areas.

I was hoping that the opening of a forecourt at the new Booths in Burscough, which is run by Texaco, would have generated some local competition but unfortunately they have seen fit to play along in the local price maintenance game.

This will only change through pressure of customer numbers so may I suggest that we all avoid fuelling up locally until the owners start to significantly reduce their prices.

J. W., Aughton, by email

A new 'super' hospital at Skem would be better for West Lancs and help transform 'forgotten' town

HAVING read with interest the Champion story (July 4) on the future plans for Southport and Ormskirk hospitals my first question has to be why are these two hospitals even merged?

Southport isn't in Lancashire, it's in Sefton, so go let them merge with a hospital in Merseyside.

I recently needed treatment from a specialist but because she was based at Southport Hospital they refused to give me - an Ormskirk resident - an appointment so what's the point of having both names in the title when they don't serve both catchment areas 100%?

I ended up having to go to the Walton Centre which makes a mockery of the system currently in place.

Ormskirk should be considering a joint venture with Wrightington Hospital in Lancashire, or better still, build a new super hospital in Skelmersdale that can serve the whole of West Lancs for decades to come and also employ Lancashire people.

It has tremendous road access and would transform a town that Lancashire seems to have forgotten.

Aughton resident, by email.

We must nurture our NHS and resist cost-cutting ideas

MY GP referred me to Ormskirk Hospital with a suspected deep-veined thrombosis.

The drop-in unit took care of me. For 2.5 hours I was given the best of attention with intensive tests and investigation by the most professional and caring nursing staff.

They explained fully their actions and sent me home having administered an injection and a return visit arranged.

I never fail to be in awe of the professional skills and knowledge of the NHS. They are the best.

We must guard and nurture the NHS and Ormskirk Hospital in particular. It belongs to us the public and is an essential part of our culture.

We must resist any cost-reducing ideas by the so-called management.

Graham Walker, Up Holland.

Bringing back breast cancer services should be a priority

I FOUND your article about changes to Omskirk/Southport hospitals interesting, but there was no mention of bringing breast cancer services back to these hospitals.

This should be a priority. As a patient I find having to travel to Wigan and using an overstretched service very stressful and not up to the level I had previously been given in Ormskirk.

If there is another hospital to be built surely Skelmersdale would be the obvious site with our excellent access to motorways and our growing population?

And it would fulfil the promise we were given over 45 years ago!

So-called Tarleton Masterplan is more like a disaster plan!

YOUR article (Champion, July 11) on the Tarleton Masterplan announced by the Lilford Estate and Acland Bracewell, to build nearly 1,500 homes, should be more correctly titled The Tarleton DISaster Plan.

I have lived in Tarleton for 33 years and, along with many other residents, am horrified to find that our parish council and West Lancs Council are apparently supporting this ridiculous proposal.

These councillors are supposed to represent the interests of the residents, not those of absentee land owners and their agents whose only interest is in converting Green Belt into £notes.

Where is their research to show that 1500 homes are needed? Where are the school places, the doctors, the dentists, the police? What about the environmental impact of probably 3,000 more cars?

Tarleton has contributed massively in the provision of new housing in recent years. We don't need developments of this size and our councillors need to recognise this or pay the penalty at the ballot box.

Rod Frobisher, by email

Empty your bottles and cans before ditching them

PLEASE could those people who drop plastic bottles and cans where they are walking empty out the contents before discarding them?

This would have double benefits. The surrounding grass would get a little moisture that it desperately needs in this dry weather - combating climate change in the process.

Secondly those people who pick up your bottles and cans would not end up with such a sticky mess to collect.

Charlotte Chappell,

Whitemoss Fund grants are 'tainted gold'

INTERESTING to see the Champ trumpeting the good news about grant allocations from Whitemoss Landfill's Community Fund.

Unbelievable that after the years of fighting the landfill extension during which the whole town came together to oppose the company plans, raising thousands of pounds to take the case to the highest court in the land, community groups are now eager to take blood money from the firm while it continues to threaten our health and that of our future generations.

May I point out that Mr Routledge, far from being the do-gooder he likes to paint himself as, operated this firm for many years without giving a penny back to the community.

It was only during the public inquiry which criticised the company for this that the community fund miraculously appeared.

I understand that hard-up community groups see such funds as a lifeline but there is an old saying that no good comes of tainted gold.

Careful driving will save lives

TO the the taxi driver who jumped the lights at Fiveways in Ormskirk at about 11.30am on Friday, July 6.

Just because I was shaking my head at your dangerous driving, why did you give me 'the finger' as though I was in the wrong?

This type of driving is becoming more frequent and while cameras and fines or bans may help, just being more careful will save lives, and in your case, maybe your livelihood.

Good luck getting some sense.

CCG invite feedback on draft policies as part of review

Greg Mitten, lay member for patient and public involvement at NHS West Lancashire CCG.

THE NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group is working in partnership with the other seven CCGs in Lancashire and South Cumbria to review clinical policies across the region.

The groups agree a review is needed to ensure a consistent and fair approach; update policies in accordance with National Guidelines and best clinical practice; and to make sure limited resources are used to maximum effect.

As part of this ongoing process, two draft policies are now available for patient and public engagement and feedback.

These are the commissioning of photorefractive surgery for the correction of refractive error (laser eye surgery for common sight problems); and the policy for the management of Otitis Media with Effusion (OME) using grommets (the treatment of glue ear for children under 12 using grommets).

West Lancs residents are invited to read the new and revised policies and provide their feedback and comments by completing the relevant survey. This can be accessed by visiting the CCG's website: http://bit.ly/WLCCGpolicies.

Policies and surveys can be posted out to any residents who do not have access to a computer by calling the CCG on 01695 588 203. Comments on the policies should be submitted by Friday, August 3.

Greg Mitten, chief officer of West Lancs CVS and lay member for patient and public involvement at NHS West Lancashire CCG, said: "The CCG is responsible for commissioning a wide range of clinical services, including GP services, hospital services, community, mental health and learning disability services, for and on behalf of, the local population of which we serve.

"We need to ensure this is done in an open, fair and transparent manner but in so doing we must consider the limited resources we have. A key role for the CCG is to develop clinical policies that help us make decisions about the use of those limited resources.

"The policies that we are currently consulting on may have an impact on many of our residents, it is therefore vitally important that our population have their say on what we are proposing."

One European venture I was glad to be proved wrong about . . .

ANYONE who encountered me in the past few weeks might well have thought my interest in the World Cup was, shall we be polite? - minimal.

And they would have been correct. I had no interest whatsoever in watching the Pitcairn Islands versus Rockall or whatever. I also resented having my usual tea-time mindless quiz programmes being supplanted by chanting mobs on television.

And yet, and I confess to watching the semi-final last week. I did salve my conscience by actually recording it, though in fact watching the action only minutes late as it turned out, and I somehow managed to get through the entire game without the aid of fizzy beer, crisps or (as I saw one chap buying on the big day) pickled onions!

Even if I had thought to get in these apparently needful accoutrements I don't think I would have found it necessary to throw the beer up in the air when we scored (though fizzy, canned beer well deserves to be thrown down the sink).

But I confess to becoming absorbed in this clash, and feeling bereft at the final result. Quite apart from anything else, I was really looking forward to a final in which we could really whop those Frenchies. And I was reminded of that other time, more than 50 years ago, when we did beat another old enemy, Germany, to win the World Cup. I was really no more keen on regularly watching football then than I am now, though being a callow youth less forthright in expressing this obvious failing.

But then as now, when England reached the final I was more than just interested. Back in those days we had rather poky TV screens but there was an excellent film of the match shown almost immediately in cinemas and I chose to watch our victory in the comfort of the old Odeon cinema in Waterloo. Actually it was a double pleasure, because in those days, as a reporter on a local paper I was in possession of a pass which gave me free entrance to the picture house, though I would willingly have paid to see our triumph on the big screen.

Afterwards I celebrated the result in a nearby local hostelry - the Liver I think - with a pint or three of cask ale, the British way of doing things.

I cannot pretend that I remember in detail how the fans of the 1960s behaved - or not - but I don't think it included wrecking cars or putting an ambulance out of action as happened at an earlier stage in this year's competition.

Anyway, I am genuinely pleased that our lads proved themselves so well - I must confess one reason for my initial disinterest was my near certainty that we would be knocked out fairly early on. I was proved wrong, and I'm glad I was. This was one European adventure in which we could hold our heads high.

Talking of which, you may have noticed, probably with relief, that I have made little reference in the past couple of years to our so-called exit from Europe.

And I am not going to start now, save to say that each week seems to bang another nail into the Brexit coffin thanks to MPs who think they know better than the will of the people they represent and a Government which has failed to fly the flag for Great Britain since day one.

If Westminster had been running the England football squad, I doubt if the lads would ever have been allowed out of the country for fear of upsetting our European 'partners'. And anyway, with the risk of possibly losing, we would probably have decided to cede our games long before the semi-finals in any case.

Oh, and of course we would have paid for everybody else's beer and pickled onions and asked how many tons of crisps they wanted in order to allow us to watch from the sidelines.

Voters set to go to polls in borough council by-election

VOTERS in the Hesketh-with-Becconsall ward of West Lancs Council will go the polls tomorrow (Thursday, July 19) to elect a new councillor following the resignation of Conservative Councillor Paul Moon.

Three candidates will contest the seat vacated by Cllr. Moon in June. They are Nick Kemp (Labour); Steve Kirby (Independent) and Joan Witter (Conservative).

Cllr. Moon, who was elected to represent the ward in 2016, said his decision to stand down from West Lancs Council was due to "a personal and private matter."

● A by-election will also be held in Knowsley ward next Thursday, July 26 following Labour Councillor Michelle Aldridge's decision to step down "due to personal commitments" just six weeks after taking up the role.

Edge Hill honours academic who became driving force behind Hillsborough campaign

A MAN who became a driving force in the campaign for justice for the victims and survivors of the Hillsborough Disaster and its aftermath has been awarded an Honorary Doctorate in Philosophy by Edge Hill University.

Professor Phil Scraton, who set up the nationally-renowned Centre for Studies in Crime and Social Justice at Edge Hill in 1984 with Dr Kathryn Chadwick, launched the first undergraduate degree in Critical Criminology alongside Edge Hill's first postgraduate programmes.

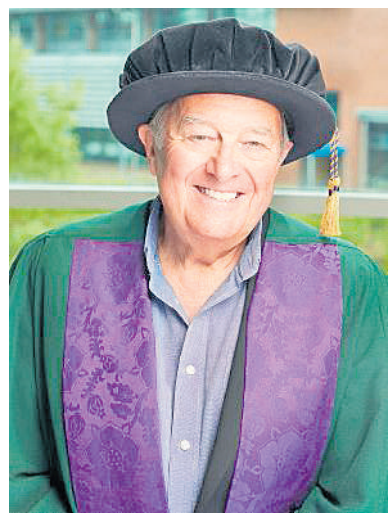
He became one of the university's first professors and was a founder member of the charity INQUEST, supporting families of bereaved by deaths in custody.

Over 20 years, the Centre for Studies in Crime and Social Justice produced critical research and informed professionals across the region's public services, but it is for his work into the 1989 Hillsborough Stadium Disaster and its aftermath and his role in the campaign for justice that he is most well-known.

For nearly three decades he has worked alongside bereaved families and survivors. His initial research, commissioned by Liverpool City Council and based at Edge Hill was to critique the Taylor Inquiry and media coverage following the disaster.

The Hillsborough Project revealed that survivors and bereaved were subjected to insensitivity by the police in the tragedy's immediate aftermath.

His later research exposed the systemic review and alteration of police statements by South Yorkshire Police officers and their solicitors.



Hillsborough campaigner Professor Phil Scraton who has been awarded an honorary doctorate by Edge Hill University

In 1998, Jimmy McGovern's drama documentary Hillsborough drew heavily on Phil's work, and that of his colleagues, Sheila Coleman, Ann Jemphrey and Paula Skidmore.

In 2009, following Hillsborough's 20th anniversary, the Government committed to full disclosure of some two million documents and appointed the Hillsborough Independent Panel. Phil headed its research and was primary author of its 2012 report which led to the original inquest verdicts being quashed and new inquests established.

A full criminal investigation was initiated alongside another by the Independent Police Complaints Commission (now the Independent Office for Police Conduct), and both are still ongoing.

In 2015, Phil was seconded to the families' legal teams, and after two years in session, the inquest jury returned verdicts of unlawful killing, heavily criticising all authorities involved and fully exonerating the fans.

Achievement

Talking to graduands from the Law and Criminology and Social Sciences, he said:

"I was the first in my family to go to university. I was told it was basically a waste of time, my father said I should go out and get a proper job, my mum stood by me.

"Then when I said to one of the senior lecturers my ambition was to be a researcher he laughed and said, 'no Phil, research isn't for you' in the same way I'd been told before that, that university wasn't for me.

"Whatever you choose to do, never ever be told you're not worthy, never ever be told you're not good enough or your chosen path isn't for the likes of you.

"Today is your celebration, I'm very grateful for being brought into the heart of it. Never ever allow the systems to knock you back. It's a tremendous achievement what you've done over the last three years, you have to remember that the future is yours."

Lancashire nurse wins prestigious award

Tracey scoops top honour for pioneering work with children with learning disabilities and autism

A NURSE with the Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust has beaten hundreds of other nominations from across the country to win the UK's most prestigious nursing accolade for her pioneering work with children with learning disabilities and autism.

Tracey Hartley-Smith, Integrated Service Leader in the Learning Disability and Complex Needs Team at Lancashire Care, was one of five finalists in the Learning Disability Nursing Award category of the Royal College of Nursing Institute's (RCNi) Nurse Awards 2018.

Tracey, from Chorley, was given the award for recognising a gap in service for children with learning disabilities and autism in North Lancashire and developing a service that resulted in positive outcomes for families and recognition from stakeholders.

Sponsored by NHS England, the Learning Disability Nursing Award recognises and celebrates individual learning disability nurses or teams who have used their initiative, insight and skills to make a real difference to the health, wellbeing and social inclusion of people with learning disabilities.

Dedicated

Tracey said: "I'm thrilled to have been given the Learning Disability Nursing Award. This is a huge honour for me and the trust. Previously, there was no specialist nursing service for children with learning disabilities and autism in North Lancashire so we developed a nurse-led multidisciplinary service that is now fully established.

"I am proud to be part of a skilled and dedicated team in central Lancashire whose expertise, knowledge and hard work enabled us to make a real difference to the well being of children with learning disabilities and autism in other parts of Lancashire. This has led to positive outcomes for families and received widespread recognition. The service is working hard to ensure that there is sufficient capacity locally to meet the needs of children and young people now and in the future."

Tracey is now working with other NHS organisations and local commissioners to develop an Autism Spectrum Disorder diagnostic pathway, planned for commencement later in the year.

Now in their 31st year, the RCNi Nurse Awards celebrate the very best in nursing care. Covering a wide range of specialities such as learning disability nursing, child health, cancer nursing, mental health nursing and nursing older people, the awards are widely regarded as the highest accolade for nurses in the UK.

Edge Hill Students' Union official in call for 'people's vote' on Brexit deal

A STUDENTS' Union leader at Edge Hill University has branded the Government's handling of Brexit negotiations "chaotic" and says frustrated students should have a say on any future deal.

Many students from North West institutions, including Edge Hill, have joined the campaign group For our Future's Sake (FFS) which is calling for a people's vote on the UK's final deal with the EU.

Luke Myer, union vice-president at the Ormskirk campus, said: "Whichever way people voted in 2016, everyone can agree that this Government's handling of Brexit has been utterly chaotic.

"This is the biggest political issue facing future generations, and students and young people across the North West have passed the point of frustration with the Government's complete lack of progress. "We believe that a people's vote on the terms of the deal is the only way forward, to show that this is not the future that young people want."

Canal trust summer roadshow set to 'moor up' at Wharf

THE Canal & River Trust's summer roadshow is coming to West Lancashire on Friday, July 27 as part of a campaign to encourage people to make the most of their local waterways.

Running from 11am to 4pm at Burscough Wharf, the event is one of a series of family-friendly special days being hosted by the charity that cares for the Leeds & Liverpool Canal.

The summer roadshow events will give visitors the chance to have a go at things such as canoeing and fishing and meet the people and wildlife that call the canal home.

Staff and volunteers from the trust, which look after 2,000 miles of waterways across England and Wales, will be revealing how being by water can make people feel happier and healthier, and encouraging locals to help care for their local waterway by volunteering for tasks such as painting lock gates, repairing towpaths and planting flowers.

They will also be sharing some top tips on staying cool and enjoying the water this summer - without getting in!

Tony Entwistle, development engagement manager at the Canal & River Trust, said: "We know that life is better by water and we want more people across Lancashire to reap the benefits of getting out and about by their local canal or river, whether that's through leisure activities or giving back to their community by volunteering with us.

Burscough Wharf will host a day of activities organised by the Canal & River Trust.

"Taking a walk, jog or cycle along the towpath, sitting by the water to watch the world go by, getting out on a canoe, or taking part in volunteer sessions, can all help to relieve stress and provide that much-needed dose of fresh air in our busy lives. We look forward to welcoming everyone on the day and showing them just what their local canal has to offer."

Full details on the summer roadshows, including how to get there and what's on offer at each site, can be found at: https://canalrivertrust.org.uk/enjoy-the-waterways/events.

Hospice awarded £10k Big Lottery grant

ST JOSEPH'S Hospice, which provides long-term end of life care for more than 200 patients and their families from across Liverpool, Sefton and West Lancashire every year, has been awarded £10,000 by the Big Lottery Fund.

The grant will be used to conduct a feasibility study which will look at how the hospice in Thornton can offer a broader range of services to more people, as well as improving the facilities for inpatients and their families.

The study will explore whether it would be viable for the hospice to offer services such as wellbeing, holistic therapy, counselling and bereavement care through a day hospice setting to people living with life limiting conditions out in the community as well as to inpatients.

It will also examine the possibility of improving the overnight facilities for the families of inpatients and developing a larger social hub at the hospice for families and patients to spend time together.

Hospice chief executive, Mike Parr, said: "We are delighted to have received this grant from the Big Lottery Fund which will help us to see how we can improve our facilities and develop the services we offer so that we can reach more people living out in our communities."

Claire uses her art to highlight farming issues

Report by Kenny Parker

A MATURE art student from a farming family in West Lancashire is using her final year project to raise awareness of issues affecting the UK farming industry.

Claire Molyneux is set to graduate with a degree in Fine Art from University of Central Lancashire (UCLan) and wanted her work to reflect family farming and in particular small farming businesses which struggle to keep up with the demands of the industry.

The 51-year-old mother-of-seven grew up on a farm and now lives in Bickerstaffe with husband Paul, who runs a family farming business with his father and borther. Paul's sister also works on the farm, with additional support from Claire's children outside of school term.

Claire said: "My project, Family Farming, is about a real, current situation and I wanted to capture this moment in time because it is a vision of the present at a time when our future is uncertain.

"Farming is becoming increasingly hard to sustain in today's climate and it's not just a job, it's a way of life for my family. It was important that I captured these images of the farm as we don't know what our future holds and I think a lot of people within the industry can relate to this."

Borough pupils gets a taste for triathlon

MORE than 700 children from primary schools across the borough took part in the West Lancashire Sport Partnership Triathlon event held at Ormskirk Park Pool and grounds.

Competing in teams, the youngsters completed a 40-metre swim, followed by an 800-metre cycle and finishing with a 400-metre run and all competitors showed great resilience and determination on a baking hot day.

Grateful

This was followed by a secondary school individual triathlon featuring 64 pupils from Burscough Priory Science College, St Bede's Catholic High School, Ormskirk School and Up Holland High.

Each athlete completed a 100-metre swim, 1,500-metre bike ride and an 800-metre run.

George Fairbrother, community programme development officer at Tarleton Academy and West Lancashire Sport Partnership, said: "Thanks to our sports leaders from St Bede's and Ormskirk School for their help in running the event. We are also grateful to Ashley Travel and Don Fraser for transporting schools to and from Ormskirk throughout the day and to West Lancashire Community Leisure for sponsoring the event."

Police commissioner says Government has got priorities wrong

£5m allocated to police Trump golf course visit but only £1.4m for marshalling protests at county fracking site

LANCASHIRE'S Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw has accused the Government of getting its priorities wrong after the Treasury announced it will make £5m available to Police Scotland for President Trump's visit to his golf course there.

Mr Grunshaw contrasted that decision with the Government's refusal to do more than the "minimum" to help ease the financial burden placed on Lancashire Constabulary by policing fracking protests in the county.

Despite the costs of force's operation at the fracking site in Little Plumpton reaching £7m the Government has said it won't make more than £1.4m available to help cover it.

Police and crime commissioner Clive Grunshaw 'on patrol' with the Preston and South Ribble Street Pastors

The commissioner said: "The Government's priorities are all wrong. While it's right they support Police Scotland during President Trump's visit, it's frustrating that they won't ease the pressure on Lancashire Police. These are both national decisions impacting on overstretched police forces.

"The decision to allow fracking in Lancashire was one made in Westminster but it's been local residents who have been left to foot the bill, only offered the minimum possible assistance.

"The people of Lancashire will rightly be left wondering why the rules can be bent for President Trump to visit his golf resort, but not for our police force."

Meanwhile, Mr Grunshaw recently joined Preston and South Ribble Street Pastors on an evening patrol to support the homeless and other vulnerable people, including offering assistance to nighttime revellers and preventing violent incidents getting out of control.

Ormskirk Street Pastors were among five groups that were awarded a portion of £25,000 funding by the commissioner's office last year.

The funding is being used by the groups to help them train and equip new volunteers, upskill current volunteers and for resources such as drinks and food to give out to vulnerable people.

Mr Grunshaw said: "Seeing the hard work that street pastors do across Lancashire first-hand, I'm proud to be able to support all that these and other similar organisations across the county do to keep our streets safe. "They also provide excellent value for money, reducing the need for frontline services to intervene and reduce some of the strain that our emergency services face."

Thinking of Moving House?

If you are thinking of moving, re-mortgaging, purchasing an investment property or helping children get on the property ladder then you are going to need the help of an experienced conveyancer to guide you through the legal process and ensure the transaction runs smoothly.

We have advised local people for over 200 years in relation to sales, purchases, re-mortgages and all other property related transactions. Our team of experienced conveyancers is headed up by Kate Greenwood who has over 30 years' experience working in the legal profession, she is a solicitor and runs the Residential Conveyancing Department at Dickinson Parker Hill.

Our team also includes Grainne McGuiness who has 37 years conveyancing experience and Rachael Leather, with over 20 years' experience in conveyancing. All of our team are local to the area, having lived and worked here for many years, and are experts in their field. They have helped many, many people purchase their dream property.

Why choose Dickinson Parker Hill for your conveyancing?

It is always a good idea to contact us early on in the conveyancing process so we can guide you through it. We are an accredited member of the Law Society's Conveyancing Quality Scheme (CQS) which recognises the quality of our work.

We will ensure that you get the best advice and guide you through the process to make sure your transaction goes to plan. We will provide you with a straightforward fee, with no add-ons, unlike many firms, and we will provide you with the same point of contact throughout to give you the best possible service.

At the end of the matter we will even store your title deeds and other legal documents for free!

Crowds flock to enjoy a sunny 'Day at the Races' at village show

A CROWD of nearly 3,000 enjoyed this year's Parbold Village Show which had the theme of 'A Day at the Races'.

Among the many highlights of the day were the hobby horse races, in several classes, across a competitive course modelled on the Grand National.

Meanwhile, for those wanting something less strenuous Our Lady Queen of Peace College in Skelmersdale provided hands-on slot-car racing.

Against a backdrop of glorious sunshine, visitors also enjoyed the magic of the Old Hall Brass band from Appley Bridge, and a dance competition featuring youngsters from local schools.

Trophies were handed out for best produce, baking, artwork and photography.

Meanwhile, show organisers are appealing for Mr Shaw of Parbold to ring 01257 462176 as he has won the grand prize in the raffle!

Care trust takes step towards paperless target

LANCASHIRE Care NHS Foundation Trust has taken a step towards achieving its aim of being paperless at the point of care by 2020 to reduce administration and free up time to care for patients.

The trust has signed a five-year contract with global digital solutions provider Civica to deliver a new clinical information management system, Cito.

The system has been designed to facilitate instant access to patient records, allow staff to be able to gather insights and information along the patient's care pathway and transfer information between its healthcare partners.

Damian Parkinson, director of health informatics at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust said: "Implementation of the new solution will result in improved access to clinical records for staff, enhanced quality of patient experience and better ongoing outcomes for all our service users."

Paul Sherman (far right) shows members of the Lathom Park Trust how to use a light box to record images for an online database.

Village's historic artefacts and documents will be available to view online

DOCUMENTS and artefacts relating to Lathom's history are to be made available to view online after members and trustees from Lathom Park Trust were shown how to create a digital archive.

Jane Williams and Paul Sherman from the Lathom Castle Project team met with the trust at the scout hut on Hall Lane, Lathom, where trust members were shown how to catalogue and then scan documents into the database.

Dot Broady-Hawkes, secretary of Lathom Park Trust, said it was a very important project for Lathom, as not just paper records of all sizes were scanned but by using a light box items like canon balls, pottery and glass finds from previous excavations in Lathom Park were also recorded and uploaded to the database.

Research

She said that database will be made available online for all to access.

The website address will be www.lathomarchives.online and will be hosted by the National Archives.

A further session to record documents and artefacts will take place soon.

Dot said: "Whilst there are many records already available to use for research into historic Lathom, there are also many items in the possession of individuals.

"Using this system of digital archiving, those items can be copied and then returned to their owners, as access to them via the digital archive will put them in one online collection for all to view and appreciate."

Have a buzzing day out at Martin Mere this summer as GIANT Bionic Bugs invade the centre

Breaking news – GIANT Bionic Bugs are invading WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre this summer searching for the World's Largest Bug Hotel.

Have a bug-filled adventure this summer as Martin Mere is taken over by six giant Bionic Bugs from Saturday 28 July to Sunday 2 September. Meet a 6ft long dragonfly, 6ft wingspan butterfly, ant, grasshopper, 4ft buzzing bee, all brought to life with state of the art animatronics and sound effects.

Centre Manager, Nick Brooks, said: "With the invasion taking place I guess I should tell you to remain calm and stay indoors - but actually I think it will be better to get outdoors and become very excited as we need families and children of all ages to visit Martin Mere and find these bionic bugs this summer. In 2017, Martin Mere received the Guinness World Record for the World's Largest Bug Hotel, standing at a massive 18.36 cubic metres, it is no surprise that giant bugs were going to attempt to move in – it's going to be a buzzing day out for the whole family."

Grab your free bug book when you arrive, and start your bug-tastic adventure, collecting stickers for doing eight activities including spotting the GIANT bugs, having a go at bug hunts, glide along on the Canoe Safari or boat tour bug trail, delve into our Pond Zone, make bug crafts, learn about bugs in the food chain and take the your own bug picture.

If you collect six or more stickers, you can get a special bionic bug sticker at the daily award ceremony at 3.30pm.

For further information and a full list of activities visit wwt.org.uk/bionicbugs

WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre is open every day (except Christmas Day) from 9.30am to 6pm and parking is free of charge. Situated off the A59, it is signposted from the M61, M58 and M6. The Centre is also accessible via the Southport to Manchester and the Liverpool to Preston line by train from Burscough Rail Stations. Visit the web site http://www.wwt.org.uk/martinmere/ to find out what's on all year round at Martin Mere and the other eight WWT Wetland Centres.

Group's take on show was 'just as funny as original'

The cast of 'Allo 'Allo

Review by Ron Ellis

'Allo 'Allo by David Croft and Jeremy Lloyd
Ormskirk Theatre Company
Toby Carvery, Ormskirk

THE stage at the Toby Carvery was transformed for three nights into that familiar small café in German-occupied France during World War Two with Gary Simpson giving a perfect impersonation of Rene Artois, as portrayed by Gorden Kaye in the iconic television show of the eighties which ran for 85 episodes over 10 years.

The story was the Gestapo's long-standing search for the missing painting of The Fallen Madonna (with the big boobies) by Von Klomp, hidden in the café.

A huge cast of fifteen all had their moments in the spotlight.

Patricia Baker played Rene's wife, Edith, her curious warbling, when she took to the floor to sing to the customers, was one of the highlights of the night.

Lesley Roper and Patricia Baker were eminently seductive as waitresses Michelle and Mimi, Rene's two secret lovers, and Ann Todd provided a lovely comic turn involving cockatoos.

Angela Johannessen performed a tantalising striptease for Gestapo officer Herr Flick (John Tomlinson) while Chris Smalling's malapropisms as Captain Crabtree were a continual delight.

Simon James played the poncey Gruber, with his eye on Rene, and Joe Coyne, as the Italian, Captain Bertorelli, nearly shattered the lightbulbs impersonating Hitler.

Brian Tubb was Von Strohm; Paul Falcone played Von Schmelling while Megan Tomlinson, Jennifer Edwards and Andy Hawkes appeared in various guises along the way.

The familiar catchphrases from the TV show were all there, the pace was fast, the scene changes a master of dexterity and the play, directed by Paul Falcone, had the audience laughing throughout.

A most entertaining evening from the Ormskirk Theatre Company whose next play at the Toby Carvery will be the Eric Chappell comedy Theft on Wednesday, October 3 to Friday, October 5. Don't miss it.

Star rating: 7 out of 10. Just as funny as the original.

Relive the sound of Roy Orbison

THE Roy Orbison 30 Year Special featuring Barry Steele is coming to Southport Theatre, on Saturday, August 4 at 7.30pm.

Barry Steele is widely recognised as one of the world's leading vocalists playing homage to legend Roy Orbison, stunning audiences across the globe with his uncanny similarity and ability to revive the sound of this music giant.

Expect an upbeat and contemporary slant on Orbison's legacy, as Barry Steele and Friends take audiences on a musical journey in this specially produced 30-year special from the early Sun years right through to the late 1980s.

The production will also feature chart busting hits originally made famous by The Traveling Wilburys, Jerry Lee Lewis, Jeff Lynne, Del Shannon and The Spencer Davis Group.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

WRIGHT NELLIE

The family of the late Ellen "Nellie" Wright would like to offer their sincere thanks to the many people who showed great kindness and support during this sad time.
Also for the dignified and sensitive approach to every request, we are ever so grateful to all the staff at Howard's Funeral Directors.

EQUIZI KATIE ANNA

Katie's family would like to express their sincere appreciation for all the support received at this very sad time. The cards, flowers, tributes and donations to Autism Awareness have been overwhelming.
A grateful thank you to Father John Heneghan at St Marie's RC Parish Church for the beautiful service, also to Derek Crawford and the Team at Howard's Funeral Directors for making things easier for the family.

CRABBE JOHN COLIN

Irene and family would like to thank all relatives, friends and neighbours for their kind messages, cards, flowers and donations to Bloodwise given in memory of the late Colin Crabbe.
Thanks also to the Reverend Paul Lock for his ministrations at St Michael and All Angels Church, Dalton and for the support and prayers of friends in the congregation.
Grateful thanks to Skelmersdale Funeral Services for their dignified funeral arrangements.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

WHALLEY DOREEN ESTELLE

In Loving Memory

Doreen's Sisters Christine Stevenson and Pauline Neale, their Husbands Derek and Ian and their families, wish to be included in expressing their sadness at the passing of Doreen on the 29th June 2018, and who is now resting in peace at Much Hoole Woodland Burial Ground.
They wish to express their grateful thanks to Connell Court for all their loving care and to Southport Hospital for the Nursing Care Doreen received.

HUTCHINGS FAYE ANNA

Mal, Roger, Gregg and their family wish to express their sincere thanks to all relatives, friends and neighbours for their very kind thoughts of sympathy, cards, flowers, visits and very generous donations for Learning Stars, received in their recent sad loss of a dearly loved daughter and sister.
Special thanks to all the staff at Royal Liverpool University Hospital, and the team at 59 for all their care and support for Faye and her family.
Grateful thanks to Alan Martin for facilitating the funeral service.
Also to Michelle and Michael of M. Rushton Funeral Directors for their help, support and dignified funeral arrangements.

PRAYERS

PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN

Never known to fail.

O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, faithful Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this necessity, O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother, O Holy Mary Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succour me in my necessity.

(Make Request).

There are none that can withstand your powers. Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 Times).

Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands (3 times).

Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine.

This prayer must be said for three days and after that the request will be granted and the prayer must be published.

I found a workplace for the summer heat - a Peugeot!

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

I DON'T know what your office is like at the moment, but mine's verging on the unbearable.

Every afternoon the temperature inside soars into the high twenties – and sometimes higher – and the air conditioning system struggles to cope with the task of keeping 300 people working at 300 computers cool.

An armada of electric fans have been drafted in to help but they're not much either; the one I borrowed a few days ago lasted two hours before it conked out spectacularly, its malfunctioning motor sounding like a misfiring Transit as it cranked inelegantly to a complete halt.

Happily, I've found a workplace far better suited to the searing summer heat – Peugeot's 5008.

Treat it as a car and it's perfectly well accomplished, if a bit too clever for its own good. The chief culprit is the electronically-operated tailgate on the GTLine version that I tested, which is marvellous when you emerge from a supermarket weighed down with six bags of shopping and it raises up majestically at the touch of a button. The only problem is that when you just want to nip in and out to grab something quickly – particularly if you're pulled over at the roadside – it resolutely refuses to let you open or close it quickly yourself. It's the same story with the digitaldashboard, which let me choose between having my dials presented to me in five different ways. Very swish, but a traditional set of dials can present everything I need in just one way a lot more clearly.

Treat as an office – as I did at a car show last weekend – and it's absolutely tremendous, though.

Peugeot's been making lots of noises about this latest 5008 being a trendy SUV but look closer and the spirit of its predecessor – which was unapologetically a people carrier – lives on. There are seven seats (with the two at the very back folding into the floor) and inside there's lots of room for children and little cubby holders to stash their stuff.

Most importantly, it has two fairly hefty tables that fold out from behind the front seat – so once I'd set my laptop up on one and positioned the front passenger seat just so, I could clamber into the rear and get to work.

It was – sorry, folk at Classic Car Weekly – way more comfy than my office at work once I'd parked up in the shade, settled into my leather throne and flicked on the air con. I could even have the windows open to let a breeze in, but with Peugeot covering each up with nifty little nets none of the bugs outside could fly in, and there was even a brace of cupholders to stop my can of Diet Coke from sliding off and making a mess of the carpets.

Normally I think firmer suspension or a turbocharger can improve a car, but in the 5008 it's WiFi and an on-board fridge

George makes debut for England Under19s

ORMSKIRK'S George Lavelle made his debut for England U19's this week in the second Test against South Africa at Chester-le-Street.

THIS weekend's local LDCC fixtures : Highfield v Northern, Leigh v Bootle, Ormskirk v Formby, Ainsdale v Birkenhead Park, Fleetwood Hesketh v Wavertree, Southport & Birkdale v Prestatyn, Wigan v Burscough, Caldy v Southport Trinity, Hightown St Mary's v Sutton and Maghull v Old Xaverians.

Five wicket haul for Hartley as Ormskirk win to stay top of table

ORMSKIRK remain top of Liverpool Competition Premier Division after a 26 run win at Colwyn Bay, writes Glenn Wallworth.

Choosing to bat first Ormskirk made a decent start thanks to runs from John Armstrong 46 and Andy Baybutt 29.

Three ducks mid innings then pegged them back from 91-1 to 99-6 before Ryan Maddock 24 Tom Hartley 22 helped Ormskirk to 153 all out, with Paul Jenkins 5-52 and Adam Campion 3-11 doing most of the damage with the ball.

In reply, skipper Sion Morris top scored with 41 as the hosts were dismissed for 127, thanks to another fine spell of bowling from Tom Hartley who in taking 5-41 took his league wickets tally to 43 for the campaign.

Formby sit in third place after a 102 run home win against Leigh.

After electing to bat first Lukman Vahaluwala 64, Sam Oldham 42, Ollie Sutton 36 and skipper James Seward 28 enabled Formby to declare on 227-7.

In reply, Sabbir Patel took 6-47 and Vahaluwala 3-25 as the visitors were dismissed for 125 with Adam Shallcross top scoring with 39.

Northern remain second after a 106 run win at New Brighton.

Northern chose to bat and thanks to runs from Tom Jones 55, Liam Grey 54, Chris Laker 46, Justin Snow 33 and an unbeaten 25 from Jack Boardman were able to declare on 235-5 with Ashraf Nawab taking 3-47.

In reply Alex Sandalls hit an unbeaten 55 and Andrew Clarke made 24, but the rest were largely undone by the spin of Tom Sephton who in taking 7-41 went past fifty wickets for the season to help bowl out the hosts for 129.

Bootle were beaten by five wickets at Rainford, the visitors were asked to bat and eventually declared after 59 overs on 166-9, with Will Hale 56 and Bharat Tripathi 34 scoring the bulk of the runs, whilst Andrew Davies took 5-43 with the ball.

In reply, skipper David Snellgrove made 45 and John Dotters hit an unbeaten 44 as Rainford secured victory on 169-5, with Vishal Tripathi taking 4-30.

Burscough draw high scoring thriller at Birkenhead Park

BURSCOUGH posted a huge 257-7 declared up on the board their Second Divison match at Birkenhead Park, thanks in no small part to a magnificent unbeaten century from Ryan Hughes 138* (inc 17x4 & 4x6).

There were also scores of 29 from Chris Andrews, 31 from skipper Jon Stone and 25 from Navdeep Aujla, whilst Ahmad Abdullah was the pick of the bowlers with 5-87.

In reply, Harry Meehan weighed in with a century for the hosts (105 inc 10x4 &1x6) whilst Mike Barnes 59 and Chris Bells 36 both gave him vital support as the game ended in a tightly fought draw with the host on 256-9 two runs short of victory whilst Burscough were one wicket away, with Andrews taking 3-73.

First Division leaders Southport & Birkdale retained their healthy lead at the top with a 78 run home win against third placed Wigan.

After electing to bat S&B were made to fight hard for their 145 run total, with Adam Galley 31 and Gary Keedy 24 top scoring, whilst Ryan Parry took 3-33 with the ball.

In reply the visitors slipped from 22-0 to 67 all out, thanks in the main to a superb spell of spin bowling by Keedy who claimed match winning figures of 14-7-10-6.

Ainsdale were beaten by four wickets at Liverpool off the last ball of the match.

After being put in to bat the visitors managed to post 154 up on the board, with Brandon Faber 47, Mark Lucas 43 and Joe Lowe 24 scoring the majority of the runs, whilst Northamptonshire's Luke Procter 3-33 and Peter Kelly 3-52 were the pick of the bowlers.

In reply, opener Kunal Mohambray 50 hit a half century, before a few wickets fell leaving Chris Anderson 64* and Jared Clein 2* to take the host to victory on 157-6 off the final delivery of the day.

Burscough face tough start in league campaign

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

Josh Wardle has left Skelmersdale

SKELMERSDALE United and Burscough have been given their fixture lists for the upcoming league campaign.

Last week the Champion highlighted the cup prospects for both clubs, and now we take a look at the league fixtures.

Skelmersdale United supporters will see the biggest change as due to the FA altering the structure of non-league football, Skem will next season play in the Evo-Stik Division One West (last season was Division One North).

As a result there will be no more trips across the Pennines to Yorkshire or up to the North-East; instead the league action will be based on the M6.

New opposition will include Market Drayton Town, Kidsgrove Athletic, Leek Town, Chasetown, and a trip to Newcastle under Lyme.

Burscough will see changes but they are mainly because of promotion and relegation. New opponents to the Linnets will include Whitchurch Alport, Litherland Remyca and Silsden; however the latter two are not entirely new as Burscough played both in cup competitions last season.

Burscough begin on Saturday, August 4 with a home game against Hanley Town, and finish on Saturday, April 27, with the trip to Silsden.

Boxing Day will see Litherland Remyca travel to Victoria Park and there is no game scheduled for New Years Day.

Burscough have not been handed the easiest of starts as their six league games in August will include Bootle and Northwich Victoria at home and City of Liverpool away. They also finish the season with three consecutive away games.

Skelmersdale begin two weeks after Burscough on Saturday, August 18 when Leek Town will travel up from Staffordshire. Tuesday, August 21 sees a run up to Kendal Town followed by an FA Cup tie and an attractive Bank Holiday Monday home game against Runcorn Linnets.

On Boxing Day Skelmersdale have a home game against Prescot Cables and on New Year's Day they go to Runcorn Linnets, with no game on Saturday, December 29. Skem finish the season with a home game against Colne on Saturday, April 27.

It is also worth noting that Skelmersdale United will play their home midweek games on Wednesday nights this coming season.

Burscough are back playing pre-season games and this Saturday, July 21 they are away to Nelson 3pm kick off.

Skelmersdale them travel to St Helens Town tomorrow (Thursday, July 19) before they play Lancaster City away on Saturday, July 21. A date for the Skem diary is Friday, July 27 when they are at home to League Two Morecambe.

Skelmersdale United have announced this week that central defender Josh Wardle has departed to play for Witton Albion.

Josh joined Skelmersdale from Kendal in November and made such a good impression that he was awarded the Manager's Player of the Year at the end of 2017/18. The move is a progression for the player, but he will be missed by Dave Powell's team.
